ST. JOHN'S, SEPTEMBER 27, 1860.

Apprentices Wanted.

We should like to make arrangements with two or three respectable boys, not under 16 years of age, as apprentices in this office. We will have none but boys of the most respectable character, none accustomed to any bad habits. Parents who desire to have the education of their boys finished in connection with an opportunity to learn a GOOD WELL-PAYING business, have now an excellent chance. We will give them a thorough and perfect knowledge of the business in every department, and fair wages besides ☞ Once more, (and for the last time, we hope) we trespass upon the patience of our readers with this apology for our regular issue. We hope to get about again to-day. We have one or two communications on hand, which we are compelled to keep over, until we can present them in respectable shape.

MORE VICTIMS.—We learn that a couple more men were killed at the works of the Water Company, yesterday,—one of them instantly, the other after an interval of about twenty minutes. We have no particulars as to how the accident happened; but we suppose it resulted from careless blasting, as usual. We think it high time the Directors took some action with regard to these accidents, by instituting the necessary investigations as to the immediate cause of them, with a view to the prevention of their recurrence in future. We have known of many works of a similar nature to this, and of a hundred times its extent, but we have never known of any upon which so many lamentable accidents have occurred.—Humanity and public economy cry loudly for some remedy to the recurrence of these disasters.

☞ We have been told that quite an amusing scene occurred yesterday somewhere upon, or in the neighbourhood of "Marsh Hill," in consequence of one of the town pumps in that vicinity having broken down, and refused any longer to be pumped. A general convention of all the old ladies residing in the neighborhood was held, to the extent, with their very promising young olive-branches, of some hundreds. The denunciations were loud and general—first, against the pump itself—secondly, against the man that made it,—thirdly, against the "Boord ov Wurks," and lastly, against the "Govermint," for their treacherous disloyalty to the requirements of their enlightened constituency in that section of the town. One old lady was finally appointed a committee of six to have the matter properly "presented," which it certainly will be, we have no doubt, and after a very energetic manner.

News Summary.

Mr. Winans, of Baltimore, intends to build a hotel in that city costing a million dollars.

It costs 875 dollars per night to light the streets of Boston.

Addressing machines are advertised in the United States. Are they intended to aid bashful young men?

A telegragh has been established between Constantinople and Nineveh.

At Bremen lately, in one day, 2,300 emigrants left that port for North America.

Not a single respectable journal in Canada or the United States has approved the conduct of the Orangemen of Kingston, Belleville, and Toronto.

The German Sunday theatres of New York, by a wise course of action on the part of the authorities, in enforcing the law, are at length closed.

One thousand pounds sterling has recently been offered in London for a complete set of The Times newspaper, for a public library at Melbourne in Australia, but without success.

An English hair dresser denounces the custom of ladies covering their eyes with their hair. He says it is productive of disease of the ear, preventing the circulation of air essential to its healthy action.

The Courier des Etats Unis says that the details of events in the United States are so well cared for by the local press, that a cat does not die of indigestion without having all the particulars described.

The most extraordinary of the many extraordinary oil wells, discovered in Pennsylvania, was opened at Tideout, Erie county, on the 10th ult. At a depth of 165 feet oil was struck, and it has since been coming to the surface in a voluntary flow of one barrel a minute!—Bosh!

In Ireland there had been three weeks of weather very unfavorable to the crops. It was improving at the time the steamer left.

Recruiting for Garibaldi is openly carried on in London, and an English brigade is being organized. A great meeting in support of Garibaldi has been held in the city of London.

The Spanish Government has just reduced the import duty on paper used for printing by nearly one-half. The accredited "special correspondents" for the French press have accompanied the French troops into Syria.

Soloque, the ex-Emperor of Hayti, lives in the city of Kingston, Jamaica, in a style of mean and wretched poverty, and spends most of his time in gambling with a few low Haytien renegades.

Several political arrests have taken place at Chambery—among others, an officer of the national guard has been sent as prisoner into the interior of France on account of his political opinions.

Garibaldi has decreed the adoption of the decimal system for the coinage in Sicily. The new pieces bear the head of his Sardinian Majesty, with the legend "Victor Emmanuel, King of Italy."

Some scamps have started a new dodge at Lyons, France, which they are said to have pursued with success. A man goes about with stockings, for sale, shouting with all his vocal force, "twenty-five centimes each." The price is so attractive that customers soon appear; the cash is placed in the fellow's hands who gives one stocking in return. He declares that he cries out so much-a-piece, not so much a pair.

During a speech from Mr. de Persigney, delivered on the occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of a new church at Roanne, the Count repeats the announcement recently published, that the Emperor will confine himself to the defence of the abode of the "Head of Catholicity;" and will give no aid, direct or indirect, to Lamoriciere, in his attempts to preserve the Roman States.

The Espana of Madrid, has a new article which speaks with great violence of England. The writer asserts that Spain has been the salvation of England. England, he says, is acting in a very unfriendly manner towards Spain, and yet "it is not impossible that in a very short period she may be under the necessity of coming to Spain, bare-headed, an in a supplicating attitude to intreat our help in saving her!" And the Espana triumphantly asks, "Was not, fifty years ago Spain the sole anchor of salvation of England in her distress?" A second article betrays greater violence, and the writer declares that notwithstanding her vessels, her Armstrong cannon, and her volunteers, England will not be able to prevent poor down-trodden Spain from gaining possession of the Rock of Gibralter!

A firm of Cambridge, Mass., have contracted to build eleven dwelling houses for the Egyptian Government. All the wood work of the houses is to be completed in the country, even to fitting of lock and hinges on the doors. They are to cost about three thousand dollars each.

The Turkish Government dread so much the re-opening of the Eastern question, which was rendered imminent by the massacres, that they are determined to leave no doubt on the minds of the European powers of their fixed intention thoroughly and unreservedly to punish those who took part in them. Even the doubts expressed by the Times, which at length sees the futility of attempting to burke the Eastern question, sesm to be answered by the despatches from Beyrout.

NEW BRUNSWICK AND CANADA RAILWAY.—The St. Croix Herald of Aug. 31, says Mr. Osborne, of London, has been here during the present week, and acting with Geo. H. Marsh, Esq. We believe that such arrangements have been effected with the St. Stephen Bank as will lead to the payment of the present liabilities and ensure the completion of the road to Woodstock. Mr. Marsh will probably have the contract for finishing the balance of the road, and the management of the entire business of the Company will probably be entrusted to him."

The Patrie informs its readers that there are reports current of a coalition being formed in Europe against France. It considers them absurd, but nevertheless takes great pains to contradict them, by pointing out that Anstria is too much engaged "with terrible internal problems," to think of attacking France, who "pursues her peaceful progress" heedless of the "alarming" but "absurd" reports circulated by "evil intentioned persons."

The Progress of the Judges of Assize throughout Ireland has been a peaceful, pleasent march. In no part of the country has there been anything but mutual congratulation on the part of judges, magistrates, and the public. Save where Orangeism here and there, has lifted up its head there have been no signs of ill-will and distrust amongst the different classes of religionists. Sheriffs have been investing, not infrequently in white kid gloves to present to the going judges as emblematic of the innocent conduct of the people during their shrievalty. In fact, there has been a remarkably light calendar of crime. No one denies this. Papers of various colours of politics admit that it is so. Even the English press has been holding up Ireland as an example worthy of imitation in England by its absence of crime—a thing not usual with them.
