Foreword

My grandfather, Charles James Carter, whom we called Charlie, lived with us for the first eleven years of my life; he died on Easter Sunday in 1935 at the age of 84, and we all missed him for a long time. The writer of these Journals was Charlie's grandfather, and in fact, his baptism is mentioned. As can be imagined, I have a feeling of closeness to this man who was born in 1790, and I have spent such a lot of time transcribing his writing that I feel a bit protective towards him, knowing that he had no idea it would one day be available for anyone to read. The original 20 books were stored in the attic of John A. Carter, MLA1971 -1989 for St. John's West, owner of Mount Scio Farms. His grandfather George was an older brother of my grandfather, Charlie, and have those originals have since been donated to the Provincial Archives of Newfoundland & Labrador.

The Journals are numbered 1 to 23, but in fact three periods of time are missing, and there are only 20 books. It is not possible to know whether there are three missing books, or whether the author did not keep a journal during those periods. Back in 1928, a year's series of 60 columns were run in the Daily News, signed Viator. Although the diarist was not identified, we now know they were based on quotes from the Carter Journals. They appeared regularly with a commentary which is included herewith. At that time, in 1928, the same three periods were missing, so it seems very unlikely they will be found, if they ever existed.

I am especially aware that, as the Merchant, the Justice of the Peace, the Customs Officer and the Chief surveyor of the district Robert Carter would not have been popular, and up to today there is still that feeling. The necessity of having people who were educated in those positions curtailed the choice - the Carters in Ferryland, the Winsers in Aquaforte, the Morey's in Caplin Bay, the Simms in Trepassey are examples. The fact that their families were affiliated with ships and fishing agencies in England made them seem powerful in their communities. The Journals bring out the worries about the price of fish, the loss of shipping and the effects of the price and scarcity of food on the people of his district.

A photocopy of 20 of the original Journals, in Carter's handwriting, is available here at the Centre for Newfoundland Studies. Anyone reading them will note a difference in spelling of the same words as the years go by, that may indicate changes in the acceptance through usage in the world of his correspondence - e.g. colour/color, and neighborhood and harbor. Another is codseine/codsean and haul/hawl; buried/burried; potato/potatoe. The interuse of "z" and "s" in words such as breeze/breese and froze/frose (1843, Oct.) is interesting, as is the change from Old English "f representing double-s, (1844, Sep.22 "several vefels passing") to the use of the actual written "ss", as we do to this day. Another difficulty of transcription was the interuse of to and too, and off and of; also fit/fitt and until/untill. The author also writes "this" meaning this place - ["Left this at 6am"], and "this day" instead of today. He also uses "hath" here and there, though not often. The spelling of place names such as Reneuse/Renewse and Capelin/ Caplin Bay; and of family names such as Sanders/Saunders can be confusing.

When I finished transcribing the Journals, I extracted the names of ships mentioned, and with the cooperation of Dr. Jim Tuck of Memorial University, who provided some student hours from his budget, there is now a Ships' Index as an appendix to the Journals. In the transcription, the names of the ships I have typed in italics. According to the Dictionary of Newfoundland English the local boats most used were schooners, trap skiffs, punt skiffs, jack (jacques) boats, dories, western Boats, junks, brigs, brigantines.

The descriptions of sails were difficult to fathom; the author would go up on the Gaze in Ferryland and watch the sailing ships go by, and then enter in his journal their colours and their masts, etc. I list here some items taken from Lord Colville's ship log of 1762, which I used to try to decypher the Journal entries -topsails, gallantyards, reefs of the topsails, topgallantmasts, main topsail, mizen topsail.

The next big undertaking was to provide a Names Index. This involved going through the Journals and listing the names mentioned, with the date, and in this task I had the invaluable help of Ida Michael. She is a White from Ferryland, and it seems to me that she knows every family name that ever was there. She brought with her a Census listing of the District from 1800 and 1840, so that when we couldn't read the author's handwriting, we could work backwards until his squiggles fitted a known name. The interesting fact that we noted was that with visitors from elsewhere, such as a ship's captain or master, the first appearance of the name would be almost phonetic, as perhaps heard during an oral introduction; then on subsequent days the spelling would change, and often a first name would be added, as if he had got more information on 2nd & 3rd meetings. The Names Index is alphabetical by surname, but we had no way of knowing whether Mr. Cain, A. Cain, and several other variations were the same person and so did not try to do as the phonebook does and list by Christian name as well.

A VOICE FROM THE PAST "Viator" columns, May - August, 1928 in the Daily News, St. John's

Viator does not identify himself*, and neither does he identify the writer of the journals. His columns in the Daily News were numbered consecutively and these numbers appear in the comments column below. Please note that not every column contained a comment. His final column was in the issue of Aug.7, 1928, numbered #60.

* Viator was the penname used by Hon. J. A. Robinson, who was the originator of THE DAILY NEWS, and its publisher for many years. He died in 1929, not too long after publishing the last column in the Daily News, issue of Aug.7, 1928. (see his OBIT: issue of Apr. 8, 1929.)

The unnamed writer of the journals is Robert Carter, of Ferryland.

Publication dates of Viator's columns titled "A Voice from the Past" are as follows:

The Journals of Robert Carter, 1832-1852

of Ferryland, Nfld

The date column refers to the Journal entries; the numbers in brackets at the beginning of each entry are as listed above.

Date Column # & Comment

1832, August

(1). To the diarist history owes much. In these days they are printed; in earlier years they were in manuscript. The modern daily newspaper is its evolution. The printing press has outstripped the pen and "journalists" as the author the more familiar names. "Journals" are published for the information of all, whilst in the days of long ago they were written down as records for the writer or his family. The tales told were based on personal knowledge. They were not written with a view to tickling the popular appetite or in the quest of popular applause. It is true that hard held opinions permeated the paragraphs and thereby added to the value and the charm. But men then wrote as they believed: portrayed what they had seen, and told what they heard and knew. For generations the custom of diary writing prevailed. Even half a century ago the keeping of diaries was general. It is almost a lost art to-day, and when these long forgotten manuscripts are found, they are eagerly searched for information which will either throw new light on history or reveal facts hidden or forgotten. Perhaps, if the diaries of the ancestors were more generally available, many an accepted story would assume a different form; many an injustice be righted; and things hard to be understood become clear and definite.

Recently a number of diaries passed temporarily into the writer's possession. They contain records of events in Newfoundland, and the Empire, in the reign of the Sailor King, William IV, and the young Queen Victoria, covering the period from the 30's to the 60's of the last century. The diarist was a member of one of the oldest families in the Island.

Much that he wrote was of a personal character, but much of value to the public of the present day - or to those of them who take an interest in their Island home, and in the doings of the days of the long ago. It is a privilege to read these records from the past, and an equal one to be permitted to publish from time to time extracts from their pages. To-day the story is told of the long winter of 1832, as written in August of that year.

(1) The chronological notes of Chafe's Sealing Book say: The Spring of 1832 is called the "Spring of the Cats on account of such a large number of immature seals brought in that spring." These numbered over half a million.

1832, Aug. 24

(2) The subjects dealt with in the diaries are varied, and on the same page are found references to events in lands far distant. If those were the days of isolation, thoughtful men kept well abreast of the times; and their horizon was far extended. The introduction to the series of diaries is the following brief paragraph: "The passing events of this most extraordinary year (1832)etc." Then followed the story of the memorable winter, quoted yesterday.

1832, Aug. 25

(2) What has become of the mackerel fishery?

1832, Sept. 1

(2) The Governor was Captain Sir T. Cochrane.

1832, Sept. 15

(2) The Hon. Edward Brabazon Brenton was formerly Judge Advocate to the British Forces in America and resided in Nova Scotia. On September 26th he succeeded Judge William Molloy as Assistant Judge, which position he filled till his death in 1845 at the age of 83 years.

1832, Sept. 26

(2) The inference is that fresh pork graced His Excellency's table at dinner. From the next paragraph it is apparent that Governor Cochrane appreciated good company.

1832, Sept. 27

(2) Colonel Sall was the commandant of the garrison.

1832, Oct. 29

(3) The Member was Robert Carter, and the election the first under Representative Government. There were nine districts, and among the successful 15 were some whose names and records are still well known. John Kent, the first Prime Minister of Newfoundland, Patrick Keough, and William Thomas, represented St. John's; Peter Brown, James Power, Charles Cozens and Robert Pack were elected for Conception Bay; Thomas Bennett for Twillingate and Fogo; William Brown for Bonavista - grandfather, I believe, of the present Mr. K. M. Brown, MHA; John Bingley Garland, for Trinity; Robert Carter for Ferryland; William Hooper for Burin; Newman W. Hoyles for Fortune Bay; Roger F. Sweetman and John Hill Martin for Placentia. Mr. E. F. Sinnott, present representative for that district is a nephew of Mr. Sweetman. Mr. Carter's address to the electors, epitomized by the diarist, differs little from election addresses of the present day. Only three of the victors in the first struggle were returned in the next election; but some of them came back, and one was Robert Carter, who represented Bonavista from 1842 to 1852; and in the first parliament under Responsible Government from 1855 to 1859. Sir Frederick Carter was a member of the same family, and with his kinsman held a seat -Trinity - in the first Responsible Parliament in 1855 to 1859. Hon. Robert Carter was a member of the Hoyles Executive, and died in St. John's in 1872.

1832, Dec. 2

(4) In contrast to the storm follows this entry! "Mr. Wood....etc." Mr. Wood was evidently Rev. Thomas Martin Wood, then Missionary to "St. John's Outharbors," and later Rector of St. Thomas's from 1853 to 1881, when he was succeeded by his son the late Rev. Canon A. C ,F. Wood. The week of storms was followed by one of those rapid changes which add the charm of uncertainty to weather experiences.

1832, Dec. 4

(4) "...high prices." These are given in the pound currency which was the equivalent of four dollars. Flour from $10 to $10.50; Bread from $5.40 to $6.00; Pork $16.00; Butter 23 to 25 cents etc. The custom, then, was to distribute provisions wholesale by auction subject to two months credit.

1833, Mar. 10

(5) Whether or not the climate of Newfoundland has permanently changed, the "old time winters" were very different and very real.

1833,Jun.15

(5) It is probable that these extracts may have little interest to many readers. They are given as an index to what Ferryland was 95 years ago, a thriving place, where the fisheries and shipbuilding were conducted, agriculture engaged in, and isolation was discounted by mails far apart, newspapers from abroad, and occasionally volumes, welcome visitors from England. These diaries have a special value to students of meteorology. The direction of the wind, and a description of the weather is given daily, but, for the most part, are omitted as only of scientific interest in this year of Grace 1928.

1833, Jul. 18

(6) There was no eight hour day in the 3 0's, or since, for the fishing season.

1833, Jul. 21

(6) "Mr. Skinner...." Son of Colonel Skinner.

1833, Dec.,31

(7) The Captain Ross referred to was Sir John Ross, a British Admiral, who was a noted Arctic explorer from 1818 when he accompanied Sir William E. Parry to Baffin Bay, and on his return published his "Voyage of Discovery." From 1829 to 1833 the object of his search was the North West Passage, and the story of it was told by him in 1835, in his "Narrative of a Second Voyage." In the expedition he was accompanied by his nephew, afterwards Sir James Clark Ross, also a British Admiral, and apparently a colleague with his uncle in the Parry expedition. The nephew commanded the Erebus and Terror Arctic expedition of 1839 to 1843. The uncle, when 73 years of age led an expedition in search of Sir John Franklin, but was not successful. Great men these Arctic explorers of a century ago! It is not surprising that they figure in Newfoundland diaries. It may well be that their feats in the frozen north inspired the Pikes, Bartletts and others, who won Arctic laurels in more recent years.

1834, Jan. 1st

(8) Just what this refers to is not apparent. It was not till the following year that the outrage on Henry Winton on the road between Harbour Grace and Carbonear was committed. Judge Augustus Walle Des Barres was appointed Assistant Judge of the Supreme Court in 1826. He was a son of Governor Des Barres of Cape Breton and Prince Edward Island, who died in Halifax at the age of 102. In 1833 charges having been made against him, presumably by Mr. Winton, of the Public Ledger, he was temporarily retired, Mr. E.M. Archibald, Clerk of the Court, afterwards the well-known Sir E.M. Archibald, acted in his place for a few months. Judge Des Barres was acting Chief Justice in 1847 pending the appointment of Sir Francis Brady. For a few months in 1854 the late Sir F.B ,T. Carter acted as Assistant Judge, and in the Fall of 1858 Judge Des Barres was pensioned after 32 years of service, and was succeeded by the Hon. P. F. Little.

(10) Was this the commencement of the policy of paternalism?

1834, Jul. 3

(10) This was Captain David Buchan, of HMS Grasshopper, whom Judge Prowse speaks of as sentencing a man named Lundrigan to 36 lashes on his bare back for "contempt of court" to the expressed disgust of Governor Sir Charles Hamilton. A meeting held at St. John's passed resolutions expressive of "abhorrence and detestation of the cruel and ignominious punishment." Amongst the signatories were Dr. Carson, Patrick Morris, Dr. Rochfort, Henry Shea, George Gaden, Thomas Beck and Robert R. Wakeham. Theretofore Captain Buchan was regarded as a man of exceptional ability and Prowse says, "the most fulsome panegyric is really but faint praise for the cool courage, able management, and humane exertions of the heroic commander." As Lieutenant Buchan in 1810 he proceeded to the interior with a view to opening up friendly relations with the Beothics. Two marines left in charge were murdered and mutilated. "No blame can attach to Buchan for this melancholy disaster," says Judge Prowse, "The whole object of the expedition was to gain the friendship of the Indians by exhibiting confidence in them" a policy as idealistic as unwise. Where these marines met their death is the centre of the Buchan's mines. By the way one Department of the Government gives Buchans as the name of the new mining area. Should it not be Buchan's? The decision of the Nomenclature committee will be awaited with interest. Until that is reached the apostrophe seems fully entitled to retention.

1834, Aug. 2

(11) Game Laws were, apparently, non-existent in the (18)30's. Partridge shooting is not now permissible until September 20th and by a recent regulation the sale and cold storage of partridges is prohibited up to October 1 st.

1834, Oct. 29

(11) The rumour was well founded. Governor Cochrane left shortly after, and his successor Captain Prescott was appointed before the end of the year.

1834, Dec. 13

(12) On this date some "end of the year" remarks are recorded.

(14) "Vessel sailed....Mrs. and James Carter..." Query, was the James Carter the late Sheriff?

1836, Jan. 5 1836, Mar. 28

(15) "...Spear Island." (?Cape Spear). (15) Judge Boulton was Chief Justice from 1833 to 1838. Judge Prowse had a poor opinion of his wisdom. He wrote "Boulton had undoubted ability but he was the worst possible selection for both the Council and the Bench. His views, both of law and legislation, were most illiberal; as a technical lawyer he was mostly right and sublimely independent, but his harsh sentences, his indecent party spirit, and his personal meanness caused him to be hated as no one else was ever hated in this colony." Eventually, a delegation proceeded to England, presented their complaints again Chief Justice Boulton, and he was dismissed. Prowse seems to have repented his unqualified condemnation for on another page he thus summarizes the situation: - "With all Boulton's faults he was shabbily treated by the Home Government. The popular attacks on Boulton were most disgraceful and unfair. The serious charge that his judgements were biased by his political views and that his decisions were corrupt, were all proved to be untrue ...he was made the scapegoat for an unworkable political system."

1836, Mar. 30

(16) Hugh Hoyles was to become a very prominent factor in Newfoundland's history. He was the son of Newman W. Hoyles, of Brown, Hoyles & Co., the first President of the Chamber of Commerce of St. John's, established in 1823. He served in the House of Assembly as member for Fortune Bay for the last seven years of representative Government 1848-1855; holding the seat under responsible Government from 1855-1859. In 1861 he was returned for Burin District and formed the Hoyles administration with the Attorney General's portfolio. Sir Hugh Hoyles was sworn in on May 20th, 1865 as Chief Justice and was succeeded in 1880 by Sir Frederick B. T. Carter. Sir Hugh died in England in 1888, at the age of 73.

1836, May 9 (16)

This was probably Aaron Hogsett who died in 1858 at the age of 81, the father of George Hogsett, Attorney General in the Kent administration in 1859, a stormy petrel of the early sixties. Evidently, as far back as the '30's, fish was cod, and other species incidental. Apropos, why is it that the flat fish, one of the most delicious of finny delights is almost taboo in these days?

1836, Jun. 5

(16) Mr. Winser made good his signature, and was elected for Ferryland District the following year. In later life he became magistrate at Ferryland, and held the position till his death, at the age of 83, in 1864.

1836, Aug. 10

(17) Evidently politics ran high in those days as in these.

1836, Sept. 26

(17) The spelling of Whittless Bay may be the first step in the evolution which, according to popular belief, changed Whittle's Bay into Witness Bay.

(20) Judge Prowse writes: "The first House of Assembly, by statute, ended in 1836. The elections of this year were very hotly contestedThe Attorney General indicted a number of persons for riot and assault, six of these were members of the House of Assembly ...The most preposterous proceeding of all was the [annulling?] of the 1836 elections, on the ground that one writ was unsealed."

(20) Query, is Cape Fir, the original name of Cape or Point Verde or Verte?

1837, May 15

(21) It is noteworthy that the name is spelt with an "o" for the first time.

1837, Jul. 19

(21) It is almost forgotten that when Victoria the well-beloved came to the throne the double name was at first used; the second name, in a shorter form became familiar in after years when Victoria's eldest son, afterwards King Edward VIII, married the Princess Alexandra of Denmark, the "sea-King's daughter from over the sea."

(23) There is a break in the diarist's records, or the volume from January 1st 1838 to Aug. 8th, 1839 is missing.

1839, Nov 10

(23) John Beete Jukes was appointed Geological Surveyor six months previously, and resigned the position the following year. He won enduring fame during the year and a half spent in the Island. The Jukes seam rings familiarly.

1839, Nov. 19

(23) The Bishop was the Rt. Rev. Aubrey George Spencer, the first Bishop of Newfoundland. As a missionary he had been stationed at Ferryland twenty years previously. His episcopate covered four years; when he transferred to Jamaica. Bishop Spencer was a grandson of the second Duke of Marlborough, and therefore a kinsman of the present Winston Spencer Churchill.

1840, Feb. 3

(24) The sulphurous designation of Hill and Pond is evidently of ancient origin.

1840, Mar. 3

(24) Mr. Newman W. Hoyles, referred to, was the father of Sir Hugh Hoyles, and prominent in public life. He was Colonial Treasurer for several years, and Cashier of the Newfoundland Savings Bank at the time of death in his 63rd year.

1840, Mar. 9

(24) This day's entry will have interest to old Ferryland families. It gives the name of those who subscribed to Church repairs - all long since passed within the veil. Some of the names are indistinct, and may be misspelt-W. Carter, R. Carter, H. Holdsworth, J. H. Carter, T. Norris, I Jillard, A. Crossman, Jno White, Mrs. Morry, Pope, J. Stephenson.

1840, Mar. 17

(24) Judge William Carter, who was grandfather of Chief Justice, Sir Frederick B. T. Carter, was a judge of the Vice-Admiralty Court of Newfoundland for over half a century. He died at the age of 89. His wife was Miss Weston, hence the name of the gallant Weston Carter whose courageous and fatal effort to rescue two girls in Deadman's Pond is commemorated by the monument in Government grounds, overlooking the Mall.

1840, Mar. 24

(24) Mr. P. W. Carter was a magistrate in St. John's for half a century, and died twenty-three years later at the age of 85. He was apparently the son of the old Judge, and the father of Sir Frederick, and the William Carter who accompanied him would therefore be the eldest brother of the Chief Justice; he afterwards lived and died in New York.

1840, Apr. 1

(25) One historian, Anspach if memory serves aright, said that there were no wolves in Newfoundland. The Wolf Act disproved the assertion. There may be few or none now, but as late as 1899 some were killed and the bounty paid on them.

1840, May 26

(25) Newfoundland's losses by forest fires in the past have been appalling. It is only within the last thirty years that the value of the timber resources of the Island has been generally recognized.

1840, Aug 1

(25) The Attorney General of 1840 was Hon. James Simms, who was first appointed in 1826, and afterwards became a Judge of the Supreme Court. Judge Simms was a merchant, in earlier life, and died in England in 1863 at the age of 83 years.

1841, Jul. 18

(26) The Rev. B Smith was the father of the late Rev. Canon Smith.

1841, Oct. 25

(27) Judge Emerson was the grandfather of Mr. Justice Emerson, who died twelve years ago. He was a native of Nova Scotia and died in 1889 at the age of 91. Dr. Mosdell, in his Events of Newfoundland says that Mr. Emerson was an Assistant Judge in 1846 and 1867. Judge Prowse places the dates 1856 and 1867. Our Diarist refers to him as Supreme Court Judge in 1841 and would seem more reliable than the historian. Possibly there was an earlier George Emerson, but if so there is no record of his occupancy of a seat on the Supreme bench or none available. Judge Emerson would at the time have been 43 years of age and a barrister of 8 years standing.

1841, Oct. 27

The latter (Frederick Carter) was apparently the future Chief Justice, Sir Frederick, who had been admitted to the Bar the previous year, and was probably making his first Circuit. Appended:...{Ref: 18 July, 1841 diary entry -jcs} Mr. Warwick Smith writes:- I was interested in reading in the old diary you are publishing the names of my grandfather Smith and great-grandfather LeMessurier, mention of both of whom appeared in yesterday's issue of your paper. The Rev. Benjamin Smith came to this country in May, 1841, and was ordained the week following his arrival, by Bishop Spencer at Harbour Grace. Mrs. Bowman, wife of the clergyman at Ferryland, was an aunt of my grandmother. Mr. Bowman had been a chorister of St. Paul's, London, and had sung at Nelson's funeral. He afterwards became a chaplain in the Royal Navy and from thence went to Ferryland. The Mr. LeMessurier mentioned a few lines later was evidently Peter LeMessurier, of Guernsey, Channel Islands. He married Eliza Hutchings, a sister of Monier Hutchings, who was the father of the late George Hutchings, of Job's. Two of my greatgrandfather's sons and one of his daughters were married to two sisters and a brother of the Morey family at Caplin Bay. There have since been two other marriages between LeMessuriers and Moreys. The story is told that my grandfather, George Hare LeMessurier when a boy visited Caplin Bay and while his father chatted with Mr. Carter, father of Sir Fred B. Carter, the two boys played together in the attic of the old house built by the Calverts, one of whom founded Baltimore, Maryland. In the attic the boys found a chest of old clothes and dressed themselves in the garments they found there -ruffs, slashed doublets and hose. This house and all its contents was afterwards destroyed by fire. It is a coincidence that the day on which this portion of the diary was prepared for the press (June 20) was the 114th anniversary of the birth of my grandfather, Rev. B. Smith. My grandfather LeMessurier was exactly a fortnight older than him.

1842,Jan 1

(28) In previous extracts reference has been made to Peter Winser who was for some years the representative of Ferryland in the Legislature. Recently a clipping from a South African paper telling of the death of Peter Windsor, known to many in St. John's and the Southern Shore has been received by one of his many friends. It is reprinted in another column. The change in spelling will be noted and has been used by the Aquaforte family for many years. Mr. Peter Windsor the "friend of Cecil Rhodes" visited Aquaforte twice during the past fifteen years, and was, probably, the great- grandson of the Peter Winser spoken of in the diaries.

1842,Jan. 30

(29) The guest of honour was, probably, Rev. Thomas Martin Wood, Rector of St. Thomas' from 1853 to 1877, who had been on the St. John's Out-harbour mission for many years and was probably revisiting old scenes, prior to taking up duties at Greenspond.

1842, Aug. 16

(30) The passage from Ferryland to St. John's occupied seven hours. Apparently the John McAdam was the pioneer of mercantile steamers. HMS Spitfire, a paddle steamer, was the first of the fire-spitting ogres to enter a Newfoundland port, in 1840. Judge Prowse says: "In 1842 the steamship John McAdam arrived, and several pleasure trips were made to Trinity and Conception Bays, and duly astonished the natives." It was not till 1844 that the first steam service was enterprised, when the S.S. North American "with her huge walking beam and a figurehead of an Indian painted white, first came into Mr. Matthew Stewart's wharf: she had made a wonderful passage of sixty hours from Halifax, and her Captain, Richard Meagher was duly congratulated on his remarkable voyage." (Vide Prowse).

1842, Aug. 19

(30) (Petit Hr.) It is called Petty Harbour to-day; a not too euphonious variation. The usage is found in many parts of Newfoundland, sometimes in French, at others in English. Petites, Littles Harbour, etc. There are eights of the latter in the Post Office Directory.

1842, Oct. 11

(31) Mr. Thomas Glen took a prominent part in public life for many years, dying in 1887 at the age of 91 years. He was the first representative for Ferryland under Responsible Government in 1855 and Receiver General under Premiers Little, Kent and C. F. Bennett. Prowse states that in the June session of the Assembly, Mr. Glen proposed to spend 100 pounds to increase the gas lamps on Water Street, an extravagance fought bitterly by the economists or opposition members of that day. Receiver General Glen left behind him a record as a parliamentary martinet, a financial leader of stem rectitude, and a faithful watchdog of the Treasury. In later life he was Auditor General for many years. The office fell into abeyance for ten years after his death in 1887, when its present incumbent F.C. Berteau, I.S.O, was appointed.

1842, Dec. 23

(31) The variation in the spelling of Witless Bay is interesting. Whether the original name was Whittle's Bay or Whitly's Bay, it is generally agreed that it was not Witless Bay. If the Nomenclature Committee would determine the original name, and restore it, or approximate it, the corrupted form which has little to recommend it, would disappear. Prowse quotes a record by Capt. Joseph Crowe, Commander-in-Chief of H.M.S. Ships, forts and garrison in Newfoundland, dated 1711, in which the spelling is Wittless Bay, but orthography was not a strong feature in either military or naval circles in those days, to wit:- Carbinear, Harbergrass and Quitty Vitty which appears in the same record.

1842, Dec. 31

(32) The Amalgamated Legislature followed, consisting of the 15 elected, and 10 appointed. The appointed were Hons. J. Simms, Attorney General; Hon. James Crowdy, Colonial Secretary; Hon. P. Morris, Colonial Treasurer; Hon. Joseph Noad, Surveyor General; and Hons. John Dunscombe, William Thomas, W. B. Row, Jas. Tobin, C.F. Bennett and John Kent.

The elected: Dr. Carson, L. O'Brien, J. V. Nugent, Thomas Ridley, John Munn, J.L. Prendergast, E. Hanrahan, Richard Barnes, Robert Carter, Thomas Glen, John Dillon, Simon Morris, Bryan Robinson and J. Slade.

1843, Jan. 17

(33) The report of Mr. Dalton's death appears to have been 'exaggerated", as the following note on the margin of the diary implies: "G. Dalton's death not correct."

1843, Jan. 18

(33) Boiled mutton and caper source(!) were apparently as much approved last century as at present. The mutton without capers would correspond to beef without mustard. As there were no Glynn Mills Inn surplus stores in the forties, the despatch of the capers may have been a welcome reply to an S.O.S. from the city.

1843, Jan. 26

(33) Miss Hoyles was a sister of Sir Hugh Hoyles, and Mr. Row a partner in the firm of Stabb, Row and Holmwood, and formerly, like Judge Prowse's father, in business at Port de Grave. He died in England 36 years ago at the age of 81.

1843, Jan. 28

(33) "James Johnson of Capelin Bay has this winter opened the forge of Mr. Holdsworth for carrying on business on his own account." (33) The Diary for the remainder of 1843 is missing.

1844, Jan. 6

(33) Rev. Mr. Bowman had evidently left the parish and Rev. Mr. Hoyles succeeded him in 1843. He was probably a son of Sir Hugh Hoyles and his last parish was Carbonear, where he was succeeded by the Rev. John Godden in 1882.

1844, Jan. 18

(34) The term Sea Pie is not familiar, the final "e" is too distinct to suggest "sea-pic." as a humorous variation of picnic. Does the phrase still linger on the Southern Shore?

1844, Feb. 19

(34) Very late for the '40's was probably 11 p.m.

1844, Apr 13

(34) Sailing ships in 1800's achieved records that have been rarely broken. (34) The Rev. William Hoyles was a brother of the late Sir Hugh Hoyles, not a son, as suggested in yesterday's article. He died in England about 1885 or 1886.

1844, Jun 8

(35) The Chief Justice was Mr. Justice John Gervase

Hutchinson Bourne, who was dismissed by Governor General Harvey after 6 years service, and the Attorney General, who acted for six months prior to the appointment of Chief Justice Thomas Norton was Hon. J. Simms. "Chief Justice Bourne was terribly antagonistic to Mr. Robinson" afterwards Sir Bryan Robinson, says Judge Prowse, "who petitioned the Imperial Government against him. He then made charges against the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Crowdy, and Sir John Harvey. His complaints were shown to be unfounded and he was quietly removed. He was a man of ability and learning but his ungovernable temper utterly unfitted him for a position requiring calmness and cool judgment." The Judge historian tells this story in connection with the C.J. and Lambert, the Court Crier. "The old man was helping the chief with his gown, the sleeve was inside out, and Bourne could not get his arm through; in his wrath he swore "The devil's in the gown;" old Lambert, who was getting the sleeve right, said quite innocently, "Not yet, my Lord, not yef ", Rather too clever a reply, for complete innocence; the chuckle that accompanied it is still audible.

1844, Jun. 23

(35) Three well known names. R. Prowse was the father of the late Robert and Judge Prowse. Miss Clow probably the aunt of the late Marmaduke Clow, and the name of Studdy recalls the gentlemanly representative of Fortune Bay some 40 years ago.

1844, Aug. 6

(35) The Diarist is in error. Princess Alice was the third. The Duke of York, better known as the Duke of Edinburgh, and later, of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, was the fourth child: and died in 1900.

1844, Aug. 27

(36) Kidney potatoes, England's special favourites of a half century ago, were sown in Ferryland, but apparently the experiments had not proved a complete success. The Diarist writes on the margin, "Kidney potatoes do not require to have to sets over 6 inches apart". If further experiments in this direction are attempted, the hint may be worth remembering.

1844, Oct.23

(36) According to Prowse Judge Lilly was not appointed assistant Judge till 1845. Whether the historian was in error, or Judge Lilly was a temporary substitute the diarist's record makes it clear that Judge George Lilly was on circuit in 1844.

(39) The Lord Bishop was Bishop Spencer. The Rev. Thomas Bridge, M.A. was then rector of the Cathedral Parish. He came to St. John's in 1834 as tutor to Governor Cochrane's sons. In 1850 he was appointed archdeacon, and died in 1854, "the idol of his congregation. Almost equally adored by rich and poor of all creeds" - a victim to his untiring efforts during the cholera epidemic through which he passed apparently unscathed, but with constitution so enfeebled that he was unable to combat a fever contracted whilst attending one of the poorest of his congregation.

1845, Aug. 11

(39) Prince Henry was probably a son of King William 11 and the great grand uncle of the present Queen of the Netherlands.

1845, Aug 31

(40) Dr. Mosdell in his Events of Newfoundland says: "Bertram Jones — appointed as Superintendent of Schools in Newfoundland under the provision of an Act for the Encouragement of Education, sponsored by Richard Barnes, M.H.A. — arrived in this country in 1844 and in 1845 he inspected the one hundred schools then being conducted, mostly under the auspices of the Newfoundland School Society; was later ordained, and was rector of St. Paul's Church, Harbour Grace, for twenty-five years, until in 1874 he left the country, to reside in England." He was succeeded by the late Rev. Canon Noel.

1845, Sept 21

(40) Rev. Thomas F. Bridge, who came to the Colony in 1834, was at this time Rector of the Cathedral parish. He was Episcopal Commissary and Archdeacon under Bishops Spencer and Feild. See supra. He died in St. John's when only 49 years of age.

1845, Oct. 3

(40) Presumably these were destroyed in the Great Fire of the following year, a great misfortune as in the old and neglected Anglican cemetery at Ferryland lie many of Newfoundland's most prominent citizens of the first half of the nineteenth century.

1845, Oct 18

(40) Judge Lilly was appointed Assistant Judge of the Supreme Court in 1845, and died the following year, aged 75. R.R.W. Lilly, probably his son, was for many years clerk of the Supreme Court.

1845, Dec. 31

(41) Probably the last ship built by the famous Michael Kearney was the Shamrock, built for the Hon. John Rorke, a little east of his mercantile establishment at Carbonear. The launch took place sometime about the early eighties. Mr. Kearney was then an aged man, but as the good ship slipped down the launchway and her subsequent voyages showed, he retained his remarkable skill, accuracy and energy, unlesened to the last. The diarist concludes the year's review with a prayer ...

1846, Jan. 1

(42) The Rev. Henry Harris Hamilton, B.A., succeeded Rev. William J. Hoyles as Missionary at Ferryland. Prowse gives the date as 1847. This is, obviously, an error.

1846, Feb. 19

(42) Evidently the smallhours were "improved" in the '40's as in the '20's of the present century, and a previous comment notwithstanding, 11 pm was not the time limit of social gatherings.

1846, Mar. 2

(42) This is the Garrett Dalton whose death was reported by the Diarist on Jan. 16th, 1843, and afterwards contradicted. [Ed. Note: on Jan. 17]

1846, Apr. 24

(43) There are valuable scollop beds on the West Coast and elsewhere. Is not another rich resource being neglected?

1846, May 31

(43) As Stevenson is the spelling used by the family during the last half century, it is probable that the "ph" was a phonetic variation of the diarist's.

1846, Jun. 9

(43) It is a noteworthy coincidence that the deaths in the Great Fires of both 1846 and 1892 did not exceed three in number.

1846, Aug. 8

(45) This was, probably, true, as Sir John [HARVEY] left Newfoundland in August 1846, to assume the Government of Nova Scotia. Prowse says: "He went there, as he went everywhere, to calm the troubled seas of politics. Blessed are the peacemakers!"

1846, Oct. 28

(52) Robert Wakeham was one of the principal shareholders of the Bank of British North America, the first to establish that business in Newfoundland. Mr. Andrew Milroy, father of the late Lady Thorburn was its first Manager. Amongst others principally interested were Charles Fox Bennett, Laurence O'Brien, Robert Prowse, Richard O'Dwyer, Thomas Ridley and William Walsh, Mr. Wakeham was a barrister and a brother-in-law of the late Sir William Whiteway, who was articled to him.

1848, Oct. 15

(53) The latter was, probably, Rev. J. C. Harvey, afterwards Rural Dean of Port de Grace. He came to Newfoundland in 1841, retired in 1888, after 35 years in charge of the Port de Grave Parish. He was grandfather of the late Mr. Justice Warren.

(56) Several references to snipe fish follow. Webster defines the "snipe fish" as a Bellows fish, a snipe eel or a garfish of the family Belonidae. A garfish is a gar pike. It has an elongated body, and both jaws long and narrow. The Bellows fish, according to Webster includes "any of several hembranchlete? fishes so called from their deep, compressed body and long tabular snout. For further information the liberty is taken of referring enquirers in [Dr. Bruter?] and Memorial College.

NAMES

Listed and spelled as entered, with date of occurrence compiled by Ida Michael and Jean Stirling

The Carter Family Members
mentioned in the Robert Carter Journals
1832-1852

The immediate family members of the -writer of these Ferryland Journals are mentioned constantly throughout, and anyone interested in these particular families would want to do the reading rather than tediously referring to this Names Index. For that reason, the CARTER names are not included in the listings, and instead your editor hereby attempts to provide a more helpful means of making sense of the family relationships.

The man who kept these journals was Robert Carter (3rd), grandson of the first Robert Carter to settle in Newfoundland, who came early in the 1740's from Sidmouth, Devon, England to take up residence in Ferry land and soon was given title of Surrogate. His wife was Ann Wylley, and we know of six children.

Anne, the eldest, married three times - 1) Sam Hill, of Topsham, 2) Henry Sweetland, and 3) Matthew Morry Sr. of Caplin Cove.

William, the eldest son, was appointed Judge of the Vice Admiralty Court (more below).

I don't know the birth order of the following Carter children:

Joan married Peter Tessier of Dartmouth where they lived and died. Their eldest son was Peter Weston Tessier, who married twice; his eldest son was Peter Germon Tessier who married back into the Carter family by coming to Nfld and marrying two sisters, daughters of Robert Carter, Lt. R.N.

Mary married Daniel Saunders of Ferryland and died before the Ferryland census of 1800. They had Robert, William and Ann who married Matthew Morry of Caplin Cove and had a large family....Thomas, Matthew, Wm. Sweetland, Mary, John Henry, Benjamin Sweetland, Henry Sweetland, Arthur Kemp, George, Fred, Robert, Pricilla, Esther.

Robert, the second son, moved back and forth from Dartmouth to Ferryland. He died unexpectedly in Ferryland in 1810..

Sarah is the only child for whom I have found a birthdate, and that is from her tombstone in the Ferryland graveyard 1762 - 1772.

I imagine Robert Carter 3rd, bom in Dartmouth in 1790, started his journals in 1832 because that was the beginning of Newfoundland's fledgling government, and he would expect some interesting times. His first entry is like a flowery speech. His last entry on October 5th, 1852 sounds normal and straightforward like most of the others, but he died suddenly two days later on October 7th, a few days short of his 62nd birthday.

He tells us that he was 13 when he first set foot in Nfld in 1803. :His mother was Elizabeth Harris Howe of Dartmouth; his father, also Robert Carter (2nd), died suddenly in Ferryland in 1810 when his eldest son was 21, leaving him to take care of the family business, and in a way putting a heavy burden on his shoulders. Robert (3rd) comes across as almost too upright, with a great sense of responsibility, and without much sense of humour, at least when writing his diary. His wife is always referred to as "Mrs. Carter". He was well educated, rare in those days, which was one of the reasons he became a Justice of the Peace, as well as Chief Surveyor and Customs Officer for the region.

Robert (3rd) was married to Sarah Rendell in her home town of Shaldon, Devon, on April 25, 1815, and after she arrived in Ferryland it would be 20 years before she went back for a visit; however, she did have Rendell relatives in Newfoundland. Robert himself, when he gets fed up with the weather, complains about the very few times he has been back to England since settling in Ferry land.

Robert Carter (3rd) and Sarah had 7 children, all born in Ferryland.

1. Eliza How Carter (b. 1816) married in 1849 Rev. W.J.Hoyles, a widower.
2. Fanny Rendell Carter (b. 1817) married in 1843 her first cousin, William Rendell, son of her mother's brother. They lived in St. John's, and by the end of the Journals (1852), they had 4 children: Emily, John, Helen and Alice. Fanny brought her children to Ferryland for long visits in the summers.
3. Robert Carter (b. 1819) married in 1847 Mary Ann Simms of Trepassey, daughter of George Simms, J.P. By the end of the diary, 1852, they had 3 sons: Robert, George John and James Charles.
4. James Henry Carter, (b. 1824) married age 50, a widow, Catherine Johnstone in New Brunswick.
5. Mary Lucretia Carter (b. 1825) married 1852 in Ferryland, Kenneth McLea of New York They had two daughters, and moved from Montreal, to New York, to Paris ..
6. Harriet Louisa Carter (b. 1826) died an infant
7. Emily Sarah Carter (b. 1828) died of scarlet fever 1837.

Although the author of these Journals does not mention his father or grandfather, the reader can see that there still are four Robert Carters in the Journals; the author, his son, his grandson and his cousin. The cousin is nearly always referred to as Lt. R.N., or MHA . He had a house at Freshwater in Ferryland, and sometimes that helps us to know to which Robert he refers.

Robert 3rd had two siblings, Eliza Carter and James Howe Carter.

Eliza , his sister, married twice, first in 1815 to Capt. George Bulley who died within a few years - some say drowned - and second in 1820 to James Charles Woolcombe. They settled in Exeter, Devon, and had at least one child, William Walker Woolcombe. Mrs. Woolcombe must have been a saint, she had her widowed mother Elizabeth Harris (née Howe) Carter living with her, also a nephew and two nieces (children of her brother James), and still she took brother Robert's children under her roof when they visited England. There are many mentions in the journals of sending over money orders to the mother and sister in Exeter.

James Howe, his younger brother, married Thomasina Dunsterville Pyne and they lived in Dartmouth, Devon. The Carter brothers, Robert and James Howe were in business together, and although James spent part of each year in Dartmouth, he had a house in Ferryland on the South side, and his name appears in every one of the 20 journals. They had three children, Mary Oxenham Carter, James Carter and Elizabeth Carter. Thomasina died age 40, when the children were 5/2., 4, and H6.. After his wife's death, when he goes to Ferryland his children seem to spend time with their aunt, and when they are older they come to Ferryland with their father, in the summer... James Howe Carter died in Ferryland age 65, in 1859, 7 years after his brother.

1. Their oldest child, Mary Oxenham Carter in 1852 married her second cousin, Arthur Kemp Morry, son of Matthew and Ann (née Saunders) Morry of Caplin Cove; I have found no children.
2. James (High Sheriff of Newfoundland) Carter in 1855 married his second cousin Harriet Carter, daughter of Arthur and Harriet (née Skinner) Carter. He died in 1925 at the age of 93, having written 2 books. His will indicates they were childless.
3. Their youngest, Elizabeth Carter in 1861 married in London Clarence Lucine O'Brien, of County Clare, Ireland.

Besides these closest relatives, Robert mentions the following Carters: His uncle, Judge William Carter, of the Vice Admiralty Court; (1752 - 1840); his wife, Catherine (née Weston) 1749 - 1848, died age 99; and some of their children.

Catharine Carter, unmarried, who died 1854

Peter Weston Carter, (1786 - 1871) married Sydney Livingstone (1790 -1850); they had 10 children, the most famous of whom was Sir Frederick Carter. Some of the others are mentioned in the Journals - William, Peter Hart, Catherine, Sydney Mary, Elizabeth Jane, Livingstone W, & Fanny Maria.

Robert Carter, R.N. (1791 - 1872) who ran in the election, standing for Ferryland. He married in 1821 Anne Hutchings (1800 - 1853), 5 children -George W. B. Carter (Rev), Ann Carter, Julia Carter, Jane Carter, Monier Hutchings Carter.

Arthur Hunt O'Brien Carter, (1795 - 1871) who was a Ferryland Merchant married in 1826 Harriet Skinner, (1802 - 1835 age 33) dau of Colonel Wm. Thomas & Ann Skinner .They had 5 children, Sarah, Catherine, Caroline who died age 4 in 1835, a son William Thos. S. Carter and Harriet Felicia Carter who married Sheriff James Carter, son of James Howe Carter.

There is one other family who needs to be included in these notes, although not a Carter by name, and that is the wife of Robert 3rd, Sarah née Rendell.

- Sarah's parents were John and Fanny (née Bully) Rendell, and their children were: Mary, John, Thomas Bully, Fanny, William, Sarah, Elizabeth, Elias
- John Rendell had 8 children, one of whom was the William Rendell that married his cousin Fanny, daughter of Sarah and Robert Carter 3rd Elias Rendell, Sarah's younger brother, married 3 times, had one daughter Ada Rendell who was very small when her mother died. She spends some summers in Ferry land with her aunt Sarah; Eliza, before she was married, spent a great deal of time with her. Ada grew up, went to live in New York with Mary who had married Kenneth McLea, until the McLeas went to France. Ada ended up going out west as a tutor and subsequently joined the Mormon church and became one of the wives of a member.

You can find much more information on the above people in my family history research which I donated to both the Center for Newfoundland Studies, and the N & L Genealogical Society. Try the family history section probably listed under Jean Carter Stirling.
