Christmas 1960 Best On Record

No Accidents, Capacity Attendance At Church Services; Parties For Young and Old

Christmas in Gander this year goes on record as one of the best. Despite the lack of snow the gaily decorated homes and business premises Gander was in all probability one of the best if not the best decorated town the island.

St. Mary's University Plays Here Friday Night

Gander All Stars will get their first test on Friday night when they lock horns with the University squad from Halifax. St. Mary's a team in the Nova Scotia Inter Collegiate Hockey League, has already played several games as a unit, and this year is ranked one of the strongest in the league.

With their added games and with the All Stars yet to play as a unit, the University boys are expected to give the Gander team tough opposition. For the All Stars it will be their first test of strength.

Wes, with just one practice with his team could not give the lineup for Fridays encounter, but it is expected that Wes will operate four forward lines and five defencemen.

Gander's two playing coaches, Angie Carroll and Freddie Burke, currently home for the Christmas holidays are expected back in time for the game and should be playing on a line together with hard working and last year's most valuable player Lester Kelly shooting down the right side.

Friday night will give the Gander fans their first glimpse of Gander's 1961 hockey team. Remember, game time — 8:00 p.m. Friday December 30

Council Awards Prizes For Best Decorated Homes

The annual contest for the best decorated house at Christmas has been won for the second time in a row by Mr and Mrs. Jack McGrath of 42 Nungesser Avenue. Second Place winner was Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Walters of 29 Boyde Street.

The judges, all members of the service clubs of the Gander area spent a considerable length of time trying to decide the winner. With the huge number of beautifully decorated homes in Gander this was no easy task.

This fact alone proves that Gander is one of the best decorated and most beautiful towns in the island.

Town Council officials will present the awards at a later date. Elsewhere in today's paper will be found two photographs of the winning homes. However no photograph can do justice to the beautiful decorations and the amount of work that went into them.

Kinsmen Seal Sale Doubles Last Year's Total

The Gander Kinsmen yesterday released the total of the Christmas Seal Sales. President Bob Loring said that the Club had collected over $1400 for the TB Christmas Seal Sale Campaign. This amount is almost double last year's figure.

The executive of the Gander Club undertook the Seal Sale and with the untiring effort of the Club members made the drive so successful.

The campaign this year was a house to house canvas which accounts for the success of the campaign. President Loring said, He also stated that the contributions of the Gander business firms also helped put the drive over the top.

The Gander Kinsmen would like to thank the people of Gander for their generous support which made the drive so successful.

NEW CURLING RINK NEARS COMPLETION

Plans Are Underway For Opening Bonspiel

The new Curling Rink of the Airport Club will be officially opened around the end of January, that's the word from Jim Dempsey.

Club members are busily engaged in putting the finishing touches to the two new rinks. All the pipe has been laid in one rink and the second is nearing completion. It is hoped Jim said to be able to start the ice machine on the weekend of Jan 7.

While some of the members are laying the pipe others are busily engaged in putting in the lights and preparing the lounge.

When completed, the rinks, which measures one hundred and fifty feet by thirty five feet will contain a lounge, two regulation size curling rinks and an ice making plant. The lounge has a glass front which will permit people in the lounge to see the curling.

It is planned that when curling starts, to donate two and half hours of ice time per day to the students of Grades eight, nine, ten and eleven of Gander schools.

The curling rinks which have sixteen thousand feet of pipe for icemaking will be one of the best in the island. It is interesting to note that the only cost to the club will be the building itself while all the other work has been donated by the members of the club.

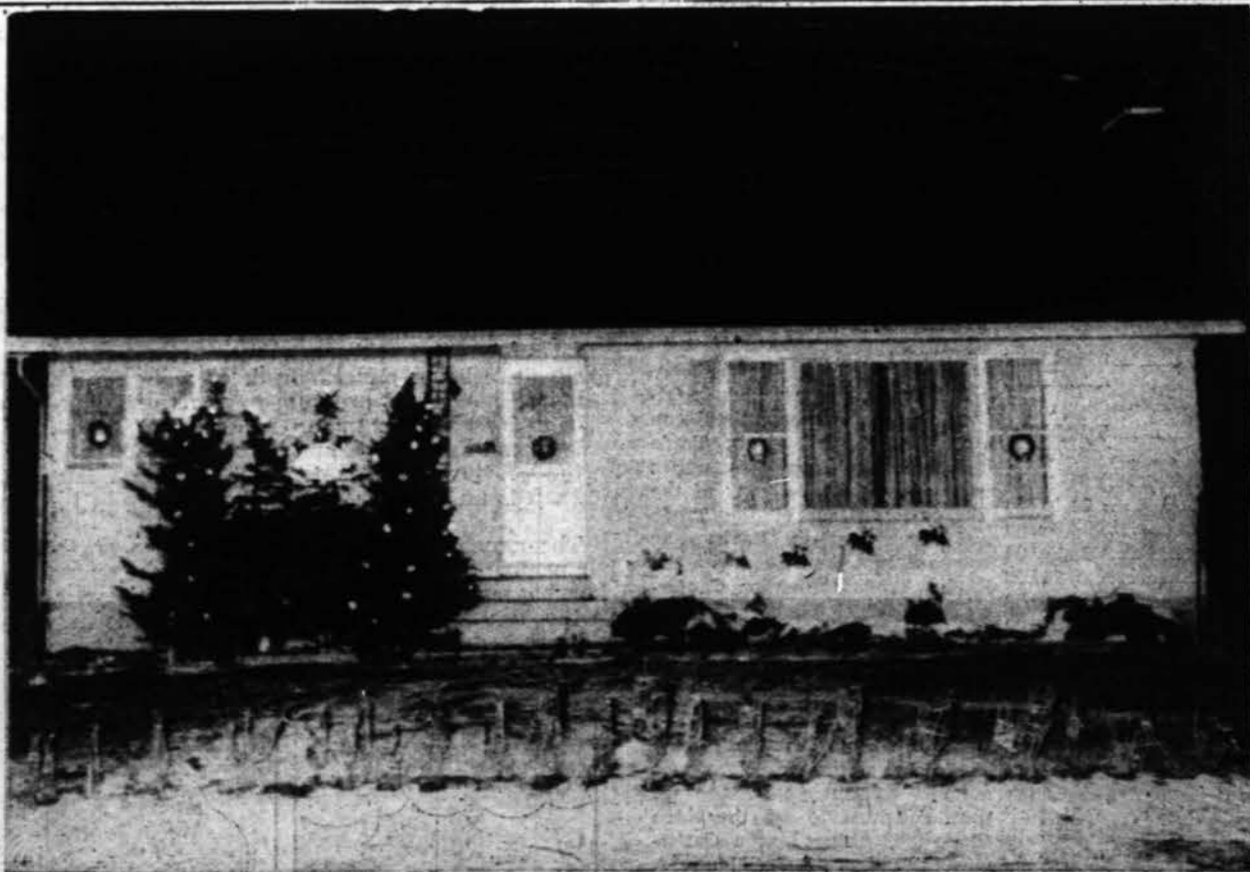

The official opening planned the latter part of January will take the form of a Bonspiel with teams being invited from all over Newfoundland.

The new curling rinks will make the Newfoundland Airport Club one of the most complete and modern club in Newfoundland and a club of which Gander may well be proud.

Celebrates Midnight Mass

Father McLellan was the celebrant at Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve he was assisted by Father McCarthy. The sermon was preached by Father McLellan. The Gregorian Mass was sung by the Girls Choir of St. Joseph's Academy under the direction of Sister Brendan while the organist was Mother Francis.

An Experiment

Conceived six years ago by businessmen to achieve a modicum of orderly development and growth on a regional basis, the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council today commands respect and stature in the business community of Canada as the first Canadian experiment in extensive economic operation on a regional basis.

APEC, as the organization is familiarly known from coast to coast, in seeking to encourage and promote orderly economic development, analyses and assesses regional problems, focuses attention on the needs of the region, prepares programs for action and helps get them started.

Non-political and non-profitmaking, the basic aim of APEC today is to maintain the improved economic climate of the Atlantic Provinces in addition to initiating, structuring and promoting new avenues of economic endeavour.

Basic research in the various sectors of the economy of the Atlantic region, which has been carried on for six years to locate and identify the underlying problems of the region, has been completed.

Today, the professional staff of APEC—economists, statisticians, and management trained administrators — are turning more and more towards practical solutions of regional problems.

Working through committees of business leaders, expert in their specific fields, APEC attempts to implement programs designed to benefit the region. Working on all levels, the organization stresses self help to the general public, urges stronger leadership in the business community, plays the role of Atlantic spokesman to governments and the nation, and, most importantly, coordinates matters of regional import.

The specific result to date are numerous; suffice to mention the Interprovincial Power Grid system, a pooling of generating capacity between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick which not only provides 150,000 kilowatts of spargue but effected a capital costs savings of more than twenty million dollars; the research function which has resulted in a growing library of outstanding studies; the opening up of Northern markets for regional producers — and these are but three of numerous concrete examples.

The stress now is on specific solutions to specific problems that will result in lasting economic growth for the Atlantic region.

TOWN COUNCIL NOTES

At the regular meeting of the Town Council held December 14, 1960, the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 1961 were approved by the council. These estimates are being forwarded to the Honourable Minister of Municipal Affairs and Supply for his approval, after which they will be published in the Beacon for the information of the public. The estimated total revenue for 1961 is $255,203.82 and a total expenditure of $255,051.03.

The chief source of Council income is the Property Tax which amounts to approximately $145,000.00. In addition to the Property Tax a Business Tax is also imposed. The rate for the Business Tax is low compared with that of other towns, the purpose being to encourage the establishment of new commercial and industrial enterprises in the town. The section of the Local Government Act authorizing the imposition of the Business Tax reads as follows:

- 67-(1) Subject to the approval of the Minister, the Council may impose an annual tax (in this act called the "Business Tax") on persons, partnerships, associations or companies (in this section and in Section 68 referred to as the "operator") carrying on any business, trade or profession.
- (2) Where a person lets or sublets to another person the whole or any part of a house or other building he is deemed for the purpose of this section to be carrying on a business and is liable for the payment of the business tax in respect of the letting or sub-letting.
- (3) The liability of the lessor or sub-lessor under sub-section (2) for the payment of the business tax is in addition to any liability of the lessee or sub-lessee for the business tax in respect of any business carried on by the lessee or sub-lessee on the same premises.
- (b) In a municipality where the real property tax is imposed the Council shall fix any tax imposed under this section as a percentage of the assessed value of the real property used by the operator in carrying on the business, trade or profession in respect of which the tax is imposed, and may vary the percentage in its application to different kinds or classes of business, trades or professions and the assessed value shall be determined by an assessor in accordance with the Assessment Act 1958.

The attention of the public is directed to Sub-section 2. The Council has now decided to collect the business tax from all owners of houses who are letting or sub-letting apartments. The tax from this source will offset to some degree the extra expense involved in Garbage Collection and the supply of other services.

The other chief source of revenue is the Revenue Grant which is paid by the Provincial Government to the Council on the following basis:

- $2.00 for every $1.00 collected up to $1,000.00
- $1.00 for every $1.00 collected from $1,001.00 to $5,000.00
- .90 for every $1.00 collected from $5,001.00 to $15,000.00
- .70 for every $1.00 collected from $15,001.00 to $25,000.00
- .50 for every $1.00 collected in excess of $25,000.00.

These payments are made on taxes only and are not paid on licences or permits and will amount to approximately $85,000.00. The largest items of expenditure are:

- (1) The supply of water and sewage disposal $50,000.00.
- (2) Snow Clearing $6,000.00.

These two amounts are paid to the Department of Transport. Public Works expenditures which include road maintenance, sanding, maintenance of water and sewer lines, clean-up of ditches, operation of lift stations and maintenance of equipment amount to approximately $50,000.00.

Capital expenditures amount to approximately $50,890.00. The revised budget for 1960 resulted as follows:

News From Former Editor

Bob Clark, now working in Ottawa with an important post on the editorial staff of the Trade and Commerce Department writes us, and sent along a copy of the Christmas edition of the Trade and Commerce News. Bob says he has been kept quite busy with the Export Trade Promotion Conference etc. (which has been much in the news of late), but all his thoughts and those of his family are, back in Gander during the festive season.

The Christmas edition of the Trade and Commerce News was quite a colorful paper, and we were delighted to see the three Clark kids pictured at a Christmas party for T & C children. A lengthy story of the affair appeared in the issue under Bob's byline and Georgina, Caroline and Bob Jr. looked very happy in paper hats around a "groaning board". Incidentally, they have grown considerably since they left here a couple of years ago. Mrs. Clark is the former Mary Beson of Grand Falls.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGrath, 42 Nungesser Avenue, for having the best outside decorated house for the Christmas season. It was the second straight year that the McGraths won the town-sponsored contest. Congratulations also to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Walters, 29 Boyd Street, for taking second place. I am sure the judges must have experienced some difficulty in selecting a second place winner, as a drive around town will show. It appears that just about everyone entered into the spirit of the season and put up beautiful decorations. The high winds at times during the week toppled many an outside tree and the rains melted away the snowy foundations on others. For a town its size, Gander ranks with the best for looking happy at Christmas time. Of course, the usual number of good house parties have started and will continue till the end of the holiday season, with some going well into January as folks try to repay some of the hospitality bestowed on them by friends and neighbors.

The biggest party of them all, that of New Year's Eve, is shaping up to be better than ever. All of the clubs have planned special dances for their members and the RCAF Station will also join in the fun. In addition to the celebrations at the clubs, many people plan house parties to welcome in the New Year. Others, of course, will go to church to worship the coming of the new year. Whichever way you plan to celebrate the arrival of 1961 we hope for you that it will be a happy one and that this year, for sure, you'll keep that New Year's resolution.

The RCMP will be keeping a close eye on the motorist who drinks and drives during the festive season. No allowance will be given just because it's the season to be merry. If you are caught while driving under the influence the RCMP will prosecute. So the safe thing to do is make sure you have enough money to pay a cab fare home or be certain there's someone in the party who stays sober to drive the car home.

S/L Reid, commanding officer RCAF Station, has received a letter from the United Arab Republic in which thanks was extended to the RCAF for the hospitality shown President Nasser when he passed through here this fall to attend the UN at New York.

The letter also mentioned the kindness extended by Airport Manager Rex Tilley, Mayor Jack Robertson, RCMP and others.

The football team which will represent Gander in future provincial competition will be known as the "Gander Boathies". This name was submitted by Miss Christine Lacey, Sullivan Avenue, in a contest sponsored by the association. The Football Association, under President W. G. (Bill) Locke, can look back on an active year. Both on and off the field. It will be remembered that the football association took the initiative in sponsoring Gander's first sports day. As a result of the track and field events on that day, some of the winners were selected to represent Gander at the Provincial Field Day on Bell Island. I think the baseball and hockey associations should follow suit and find suitable names for their representatives. Both the baseball and hockey teams have been tagged the "Flyers" by outside news media but it's not an official name.

I wonder if something can't be done to improve TV reception from Channel 4. There appears to be an unusual amount of interference for the past two months. It's time we complained to the proper authorities, namely the inspection department of the Department of Transport. We are as entitled to good TV reception as anyone is. It's bad enough when station operation is not the best in the world but when interference is added it makes viewing conditions at times unbearable.

Christmas Day has come and gone. Now we look ahead to the New Year of 1961. There are some who feel that after New Year's Day the Christmas season is over. Others keep Christmas for the twelve traditional days and celebrate the last or twelfth day as Old Christmas Day. Be that as it may, the trend today by most people is to toss out the tree and take down the decorations early in the new year.

For most people in town Christmas 1960 has been a happy one. Falling as it did on Sunday, the religious aspect of Christmas was more pronounced. Hundreds of people went to church on Christmas Eve and again on Christmas morn. The children were overjoyed with finding just what they wanted under the Christmas tree and the weather was beautiful. Snow came just in time to make it a white Christmas.

Some indication of what we can expect hockeywise this year may be shown tomorrow night as the senior all-stars play the highly-touted Halifax St. Mary's team. This university team is on a tour of the province which will take them as far east as Harbour Grace. The planned Ontario tour by the CeeBees has been called off. With Alex Faulkner gone into the professional ranks the trip no longer held the excitement it had. This trip, which was a warm-up tour to the provincial playdowns, would have put the team in top shape to defend their championship and the Herder Memorial Trophy.

That portion of the winter works program being done in the area of the ski run appears to be progressing favorably. It's in this park area that camping and picnic sites are being cleared. Lack of a heavy snowfall has helped along this program as the cutting and clearing of underbrush has not been hampered. The whole area has been thinned out and is patterned along the lines of the provincial parks near the highway. Square Pond Park is an example.

The annual Christmas teen-age dance at the Airport Club, coming a little earlier than usual this year, was rated a howling success. Held on Boxing Dal this year, the kids had themselves a ball as they danced to the music of the Solidaires.

How About This?

As this edition of the Beacon goes to press we are well into the Christmas season and both individually and collectively have much to be happy over and thankful for. Christmas for many is also a time of memories and CBC radio vividly portrayed this fact Christmas Day with its programs on "Greenspond Christmas" and interviews with oldsters on customs of a generation or two at Christmastime. Because we are living in the second half of the 20th century most of these customs will either be history or memories and probably cannot serve any purpose in our jet age.

You will note I said most of these customs — and not all of them. In my opinion some effort should be made to preserve our heritage of Folk Dancing or as most Newfoundlanders refer to it Square Dancing. We should not however, try to preserve it because it is a tradition or because it has some historical lore attached to it — but because it is a form of entertainment that has served our people for hundreds of years — because it is a form of entertainment that those who know it enjoy and those who don't can be easily taught and will enjoy.

Gander is one of the few bigger towns in the island where our native dances can be easily revived without too much effort. Probably well over half of our population is made up of people from nearby villages in Bonavista, Trinity and Notre Dame Bays, and while there may be slight variations in the type of Lancers, Sets, Quadrilles, Cetiions, Country Dances etc. as performed in different settlements — all those people can dance. In less than fifteen years the second generation will have inherited our traditions customs, mores. We can through our Church societies, fraternal organizations and clubs pass on to them a very fine form of entertainment and what otherwise will be in the near future not even a memory but an historical note on our past culture.

THE EMBASSY OF THE UNITED ARAB REPUBLIC
OTTAWA

29 September 1960

Dear Mr. Minister:

It gives me great pleasure to inform you of the appreciation and satisfaction felt by the President of the United Arab Republic for the courteous and efficient manner in which the competent officials of the Canadian Government made all the arrangements connected with the stopover of his aircraft at Gander en route to New York where he was to attend the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Although I understand President Gamal Abdul Nasser has communicated directly with the Governor General thanking His Excellency for the message delivered by Air Commodore I. C. Clements, he also instructed me to convey his thanks to the Canadian Government as well as to the individual officials concerned.

I wish also to express my thanks to Air Marshal Hugh Campbell upon whose instructions these most generous facilities were extended to us, to Air Commodore Clements and to Squadron Leader Peters whose help I greatly appreciate. As to Squadron Leader E. F. Reid, Commanding Officer, RCAF Station Gander, and the officers of his command, I can hardly find the words to express my gratitude for the most cordial manner in which they received us and for the overwhelming hospitality they afforded us during our stay in Gander.

Finally I would like to thank Mr. Rex Tilley, the Airport Manager, whose friendliness and efficiency were largely responsible for the dignity and smoothness which characterized the operations connected with the stopover of the President's aircraft at Gander and to His Worship Mr. Jack Robertson, Mayor of Gander, who was kind enough to be present on this occasion.

Please permit me, Mr. Minister, in extending the repeated assurance of my highest considerations, to convey to you my personal best wishes.

The Honourable Mr. Howard Green,
Secretary of State for External Affairs,
OTTAWA, Canada.

The Airlines extended their unbeaten string to four on last Wednesday night when they doubled the score over DOT 6-3, in the final game before the Christmas recess.

Senior League Swings Back For Action Wednesday

The Gander Senior Hockey League, lying dormant during the Christmas celebrations, swings back into action again on Wednesday, January 4, when DOT tackles with RCAF Flyers.

For DOT it will give them an opportunity to move closer to league-leading Airlines. Airlines leads the league with eight points on a perfect 4-0 count while DOT ranks second with an even record of 2-2. RCAF are winless in four starts.

RCAF, losing their final game 4-3, before the Christmas break, are expected to give the DOT squad plenty of trouble as they go after their first win.

Whatever the outcome, the stage is set for another exciting local hockey game.

Freddie Burke Leads Scoring Parade

Gander's youthful playing coach Freddie Burke has jumped into a five-point lead in the senior hockey league's scoring race.

Diary of a Vagabond

by DOROTHY BARKER

I believe it was the great Norwegian explorer, Amundsen, who once said, "My sincerest wish for the Eskimos is that civilization may never reach them."

In the Eskimo village at Churchill, members of the CNR excursion gained a brief impression of what civilization is doing to these happy people of the snows. Housing is no longer a problem for them. Instead of crawling on their bellies into an icy igloo, they sit in their picture windows in modern, oil-heated cottages provided for them by the government. They can watch the gales off Hudson's Bay beat at the four corners of their neighbour's home in civilized comfort.

Because of the constant level of permafrost in the ground, these buildings are built on stilts, and are insulated on all sides — floors, ceilings and walls. There is a community playground for the children, where swings and teeter-totters amuse the tiniest mites during brief summer days.

When school convenes they are transported by Army bus to the school within the military services camp.

The Eskimos are cheerful and intelligent. They become skilled laborers with very little training and earn considerable money when employed at the camp.

They are not money-conscious however, and seldom know how to spend or save their earnings. None of the adults we met could speak English. These were the women of the village. Husbands and fathers were all working. The children looked like a garden of wild flowers in their bright colored modern dresses and jeans. They swarmed around our bus as it came to a halt within the village, hoping we would ask them to pose for snapshots.

We were warned by the Army Captain, who escorted our tour, not to give them money. Tourist generosity has ruined some Indians, making them slovenly, lazy and unhappy looking individuals.

Even those Eskimos living within the rim of civilization remain nomadic. They flock into Churchill because of summer employment possibilities. But the population of the Eskimo village, we were told, is always in a state of flux.

Civilization has brought better health to this race of hunters, who have survived the Arctic climate for generations by their wits and skill. High mortality rate among the aged and infirm and infanticide at one time helped control the growth of the Eskimo population. With the advent of the white man, the government's baby bonus and old age pensions, this has zoomed, until adapting to civilized ways is the Eskimos' only hope of survival.

Diminishing whale, polar bear and caribou herds, their natural means of livelihood, have forced these natives into other lines of endeavor than hunting. Their skill as craftsmen has spread throughout the continent and even farther afield. Now their soapstone carvings and, more recently, their prints are being sought by tourists and museums alike.

Weather-bitten old gals who, probably since the Stone Age have, generation after generation, ruled the igloo will continue to chew hides and cure pelts in the smoke of seal oil for their family's apparel. It is the younger generation that has taken to jive and cakes like a polar bear to an ice hole. Only when the north wind blows and the midnight sun shines bleakly on icy drifts do they return to the customs of their forebears. Mukluks and caribou shirts are donned for comfort and their modern sloppy jeans and plaid shirts are discarded until another spring dawns.

Night closed in quickly as our train got underway again after our day and a half stop-over in Churchill. Beside the railway's right-of-way a peculiar tree grew in profusion. Along its scraggly branches small red cones, about as big as the end of my little finger, marched bravely against the cold north wind.

When I mentioned how much I wished I could have a branch from the tree, the train was stopped and the CNR inspector, who was aboard, gathered a small forest of this species of tamarac. He also brought back to the train several species of moss.

Teachers, who were members of the tour, lit on this loot like a swarm of locusts. It was not hard to imagine, while Eskimo children are learning about fruit belts, industrial areas, forestry projects and waterways of Canada this winter, their more civilized contemporaries will undoubtedly be taught about the species of vegetation along the timberline that fringes the Arctic.

I could agree with Amundsen if I thought these jolly people of the north would lose their identity through too much civilization. No,

Grand Falls Teenage Curlers In Bonspiel

Grand Falls, December 27: — Newfoundland's top teenage curlers will compete here next week in the Provincial School Curling Championships.

The event, to be held January 4 and 5, will see rinks from all parts of the province vie for the Pepsi-Cola Trophy and a berth to the Canadian School Curling Championships.

Competing rinks hail from four districts where regional play-downs have already been held: Corner Brook, Grand Falls, Bell Island and St. John's.

Winner of last year's Provincial School Curling Championships was the Amalgamated Region High School Rink of Corner Brook. Team members were: Fred Andrews, Skip; Red Sheron, vice-skip; Dave Burgess, second; Bruce Pretty, lead. Coach was Peter Shymko.

The winning rink will proceed all expenses paid, to the Canadian School Curling Championships to be held this year at Prince George, B.C., February 20 to 24. At last year's national tournament at Noranda, Que., the Pepsi-Cola Trophy, emblematic of Canadian school curling supremacy, was captured by the Stettler, Alta., rink.

Curling officials point out that Newfoundland has never yet captured the Canadian School Championships since their inception in 1950, although Newfoundland rinks have been very close to victory several times.

With the rise in popularity of the sport and the increased opportunities for competition, there is a good chance that Newfoundland will win the event this year, they point out.

Alec Scores Lone Tally In Rochester Loss

Newfoundlanders heard with delight this morning that their pride and joy in the hockey world, Alec Faulkner of Bishop's Falls scored the only goal for Rochester Americans in their game against Quebec Aces last night. This was Alec's second game with the Americans, top farm team of the Toronto Maple Leafs, and although he didn't score in the first encounter he was described as "making an excellent showing".

In last night's game, played in Quebec, the Rochester team was defeated 5-1 by the Aces and they are scheduled to play again tonight. This will be Alec's third appearance with the team which looks hopeful that he might play with the Maple Leafs in Saturday night's televised game.

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Frank Mahovlich, 22-year-old sensation of the National Hockey League, is always disappointing somebody.

He came roaring out of junior ranks to the Maple Leafs in the 1956-57 season but — playing in only three games that season — scored 20 goals and had 16 assists winning the Calder Trophy as the rookie of the year.

He was well on the way to fulfilling his junior league promise during the 1957-58 season, rolling in 49 points on 22 goals and 27 assists in regular-season play. Already he was disappointing 27 goals.

had happened to so many juniors, the big time would be too tough for the big guy.

Big Year
Last year he disappointed just about everybody but the goalies — scoring only 18 goals in 70 games. His 21 assists gave him 39 regular season points.

"What's wrong with Mahovlich?" became a favorite indoor sport in Toronto.

"Big M" kept assuring everybody that would listen that there was nothing wrong. He wasn't doing anything differently out there on the ice.

Pucks were hitting posts and goalies just weren't being deked, but Frank didn't offer any excuses. By now he was a big disappointment to himself.

With about half the season gone this year, the Timmins boy with the booming shot had scored 27 goals.

All Ways
He has scored them singly, in bunches — four in a single game more than once — on the power play, on solo rushes and from just about every angle.

Two weeks ago he was in a 10th-place tie in the scoring race. Then, in one week he scored five goals and an assist and moved into a sixth-place tie.

Last week he whammed in five more goals — four in one game — and added two more assists.

Now he's riding high, his 27 goals the best in the league. But his miserable 10 assists keep down his points total.

The reason? This year he's shooting instead of passing and the puck is going in.

The most goals ever scored in a single regular season by a left-winger were potted in a 22-game schedule back in 1917-18 by Joe Malone of Montreal Canadiens, who sank 44.

Rocket Richard's 50 goals still stands as the greatest number games of a 70-game season, scored in a single season, set during a 50-game schedule in 1944-5. This year.

With 27 goals in the first 30 games of a 70-game season, Frank Mahovlich could take it all in a 50-game schedule in 1944-5. this year.

Imperial Oil annuitant Frank Lewis is part of the Newfoundland scene

Frank Lewis has seen many changes around St. John's. When he retired from his position as plant foreman for Imperial Oil in 1957, he had been with the company in Newfoundland for nearly 40 years.

When Frank joined Imperial, he helped build the company's first storage tank in the province. From the small St. John's plant Imperial has steadily expanded its operations until it now serves Newfoundland and Labrador from a network of 33 depots. In 1960, the company invested another $1,000,000 in the province, bringing its total investment in Newfoundland to more than $22,500,000.

Frank Lewis keeps in touch with what is going on in Imperial through his son, who works at the St. John's plant. Comfortably retired on a steady income, Frank looks back with satisfaction on his years with Imperial Oil, a company that has a permanent place in the Newfoundland scene.

In the foreground is the inimitable Viscount, one of 49 of these turbo-prop aircraft in use on TCA's short-range routes; in the center is the turbo-prop Vanguard, designed for service on medium-range routes, beginning in February; and in the background the Douglas DC-8 jet, one of five in service on long-range routes. Eleven have been ordered. TCA expects to retire all of its piston-powered aircraft by mid-1961, to become the world's first major intercontinental airline operating an all-turbine fleet. TCA PHOTO

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

QUICK HAIR CONDITIONER. For a quick solution to the problem of dry, wispy hair, combine a creme rinse steam treatment with your next shampoo. The procedure adds no more than ten minutes to shampooing time, and the results are instant. Your hair immediately becomes more manageable and glossier.

Here's the method: 1. Shampoo and rinse out the suds, extra thoroughly. Then squeeze out excess moisture. 2. Stir one tablespoon of creme conditioning rinse into one cup of warm water, and pour the mixture through your hair. Work it well into the scalp and ends.

3. Wring out a terry towel in steaming water and wrap it around your head. When the towel cools, reheat it; continue for ten minutes. 4. Rinse with clear, tepid water. 5. Turban your head in a dry towel, until the drips are absorbed. 6. Set and dry as usual.

In order to tame a really shaggy head, a series of six to eight treatments are required. There is benefit for milder cases of dryness in monthly treatments.

Even without the steaming, a creme rinse has conditioning value. Simply saturate the hair with it after every shampoo, and you take a major step in the control of a dry condition.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponds
Q. This is my first year for formal dances and I would like to look my best. Could you give me any ideas?
A. Here are a few hints you might find helpful:
When you're wearing a gown that shows your shoulders and your skin is a bit spotty...use a tinted liquid foundation to conceal these blemishes. Apply it evenly from hairline to neckline and set it with a light pat of dusting powder.
Rub a touch of cold cream on your eyebrows to keep them glossy and in place.
Wear a brighter, darker lipstick than you do during the day, because electric lights wash out color. Touch perfume behind your ears, in the hollow of your neck and in the crooks of your arms.
If you have more dates than dresses, you can change a simple basic gown by making a detachable net overskirt gathered to a three-inch ribbon with streamers that tie in the back. Several of these in different colors will add glamour to your wardrobe.
